SO ORDERED.

JENNIFER L. ROCHON
United States District Judge

Re: Goldstein v. Experian Information Solutions, Inc., et. al.,
Case No. 1:23-cv-10342 (S.D.N.Y.)

Dear Judge Rochon:

Defendant Experian Information Solutions, Inc. (“Experian”) writes to the Court in response to the request from Plaintiff’s counsel to adjourn the upcoming conference set for June 27, 2024, because plaintiff’s counsel will be unavailable on June 26-27, 2024. ECF No. 38. Experian does not oppose this request for an adjournment. I write to inform the Court that I will be out of the country for the first two and a half weeks of July for both professional and personal reasons. I understand and appreciate that in accordance with your Individual Practice Rule 2(c), this Court encourages the participation of junior attorneys in conferences and proceedings. For that reason, as a second year associate at my firm, I respectfully propose that the conference be adjourned to another day this week (June 24-25 or 28, 2024), if amenable to the Court, so that I may have the opportunity to participate. Senior outside counsel for Experian, Kerianne Tobitsch, also will be appearing on Experian’s behalf at any date chosen by the Court to reschedule the conference.

I appreciate the Court’s consideration on this request.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Kaytlan M. Anderson
